

Animal Communication, Another Way to Talk

What is Animal Communication?

We are all born with the ability to communicate intuitively with our own and other species. Our society today teaches us to use verbal and written languages; therefore, we lose touch with our intuition. Everyone has had a "gut" feeling or perhaps can relate to that feeling of "knowing" when someone is staring at you when you cannot see the person. That is intuition, another sense that helps us filter and process what is in our environment. Animal communication is telepathic communication between humans and animals using intuition that involves the transmission of feelings, intentions, thoughts, mental images, emotions, sensations, and pure knowing.

How it Works

Having an open mind throughout the session provides for an optimal experience. The sessions themselves can be done in person, by phone or even email. After the connection is made between the animal and animal communicator and a few key questions are answered, the person can then ask their questions and discuss various topics. Inquires can be specific or general in nature, but people are encouraged to ask questions without including personal interpretations or assumptions. Letting the animal speak freely will usually get the most honest answers. Commonly asked questions include those related to behavior, emotional and physical issues. Sensitive topics are also discussed, such as ways to encourage and gain closure with those that have passed on.

What to Expect

Each case is unique and every situation is handled based on the personality and emotional state of the animal. Like us, animals can change their mind, have difficulty addressing a topic or try to skirt the issue at hand. They do not lie, but there are some sneaky animals out there that have certainly figured out a way around the truth! They also have varying personalities that play a part in how and what information is communicated – some shy, bold, others detailed oriented or free spirits. For you as an animal lover, direct telepathic communication can boost your understanding, joy and richness in relationships with your animal companions!

Jenny Gott

Young Living #925420

(952) 484-4396 • Info@animal-intuition.com

www.animal-intuition.com

About Peace of Mind, Body & Soul

Products and services to help maintain the health and wellness of animals and people through integrative methods: animal communication, canine & equine massage therapy, Reiki, acupuncture, Raindrop Technique®, Young Living therapeutic-grade essential oils, nutritional supplements & body care items. We teach you how to perform these services on your own animal companions as well through classes, clinics and demonstrations. For more information contact: Jenny Gott, ECMT, (952) 484-4396, Info@animal-intuition.com, www.animal-intuition.com, Young Living #925420.

